Case No. CIV 07-218 MCA/WDS

AMENDED CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT FOR VIOLATION OF THE
NEW MEXICO ANTITRUST
ACT, UNJUST ENRICHMENT, AND INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

Plaintiffs, Marcia Weingarten and Tom Clark, hereby bring this action on behalf of themselves and all other similarly situated persons and entities who indirectly purchased Thin-Film Transistor Liquid Crystal Displays (“LCD”) and products containing LCD during a period beginning no later than January 1, 2002, and continuing until the present. Plaintiffs seek federal injunctive relief under Section 16 of the Clayton Act, 15 U.S.C. § 26 for violations of Section 1 of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1 and damages and other relief from the LCD manufacturers listed above (“Defendants”) for violations of the New Mexico Antitrust Act and state common law. Plaintiffs, upon personal knowledge as to their own acts and status, and upon information and belief as to all other matters, allege the following:

INTRODUCTION

1. This case arises out of a long-running conspiracy beginning no later than January 1, 2002, and continuing until the present (the “Class Period”), among Defendants and their co-conspirators, with the purpose and effect of fixing prices, allocating market share, and committing other unlawful practices designed to inflate the prices of LCD and products containing LCD sold indirectly to Plaintiffs and other purchasers throughout the United States, including New Mexico. Plaintiffs bring this Class Action pursuant to the New Mexico Antitrust Act, N.M.S.A. 1978, § 57-1-1, et seq.

2. Defendants and their co-conspirators have formed an international cartel to illegally restrict competition in the LCD market, targeting and severely burdening consumers in New Mexico. During the Class Period, the conspiracy has affected billions of dollars of commerce for products commonly found in households and businesses throughout the United States, including New Mexico. Defendants' conspiracy has included communications and meetings in which Defendants agreed to eliminate competition and fix the prices and allocate markets for LCD.

3. The charged combination and conspiracy consisted of a continuing agreement, understanding, and concert of action among Defendants and their co-conspirators, the substantial terms of which were and are to fix, stabilize, and maintain prices, allocate markets and customers, and to coordinate price increases of LCD in New Mexico.

4. The acts by Defendants in furtherance of the conspiracy have included the following wrongful conduct and horizontal agreements:

- (a) participating in meetings and conversations in which Defendants and their co-conspirators discussed and agreed to prices for LCD;
- (b) participating in meetings and conversations in which Defendants and their co-conspirators allocated markets and customers for LCD;
- (c) participating in meetings and conversations in which Defendants and their co-conspirators discussed and agreed to refrain from engaging in competitive bidding, or to submit complementary and non-competitive bids, for particular contracts to supply LCD and products containing LCD to various consumers;
- (d) exchanged sales and customer information for the purposes of monitoring and enforcing adherence to the agreements reached;
- (e) issuing price announcements, price quotations, and general price increases in accordance with the pricing and market allocation agreements reached; and
- (f) facilitating, effectuating, implementing, monitoring, and concealing the contract, combination, and conspiracy to raise the prices of LCD sold.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

5. Plaintiffs bring this Class Action pursuant to N.M.S.A. 1978, § 57-1-1, et seq.

6. This Complaint is also filed under Section 16 of the Clayton Act, 15 U.S.C. § 26 to enjoin Defendants, and their officers, agents, employees, or representatives from engaging in the unlawful contract, combination, and conspiracy in restraint of trade or commerce of LCD.

7. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1332. The matter in controversy exceeds $5,000,000 exclusive of interest and costs when the claims of individual class members are aggregated, and is between citizens of different states. Venue is proper in the United States District Court for New Mexico pursuant to 15 U.S.C. §15 and §22 and 28 U.S.C. §1391, as the Defendants reside, transact business or are found within this District, and/or a substantial part of the events giving rise to Plaintiffs' claims arose in this District.

8. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1331 by virtue of Plaintiffs' injunctive relief claims brought under the Clayton Act, 15 U.S.C. §26. Jurisdiction is also proper under 28 U.S.C. §1367 as all other claims arise from the same case or controversy as the Clayton Act claim.

9. Personal jurisdiction comports with due process under the United States Constitution and New Mexico's long-arm statutes.

10. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, Defendants (directly or through agents who were at the time acting with actual and/or apparent authority and within the scope of such authority) have:

- (a) transacted business in New Mexico;
- (b) contracted to supply or obtain services or goods in New Mexico;
- (c) availed themselves intentionally of the benefits of doing business in New Mexico;
- (d) produced, promoted, sold, marketed, and/or distributed their products or services in New Mexico and, thereby, have purposefully profited from their access to New Mexico's markets;
- (e) caused tortious damage by act or omission in New Mexico;
- (f) caused tortious damage in New Mexico by acts or omissions committed outside such jurisdiction while (i) regularly doing or soliciting business in such jurisdiction, and/or (ii) engaging in other persistent courses of conduct within such jurisdiction, and/or (iii) deriving substantial revenue from goods used or consumed or services rendered in such jurisdiction;

- (g) committed acts and omissions which Defendants knew or should have known would cause damage in New Mexico to Plaintiffs and members of the class while (i) regularly doing or soliciting business in such jurisdiction, and/or (ii) engaging in other persistent courses of conduct within such jurisdiction, and/or (iii) deriving substantial revenue from goods used or consumed or services rendered in such jurisdiction;
- (h) engaged in a conspiracy with others doing business in New Mexico that caused tortious damage in New Mexico; and
- (i) otherwise had the requisite minimum contacts with New Mexico obtaining the benefits of its laws and markets such that it is fair and reasonable to require Defendants to come to this Court to defend this action.

11. Plaintiffs Marcia Weingarten and Tom Clark are residents of New Mexico. In addition, a substantial part of the trade and commerce, as well as the arrangement, contract, agreement, trust, combination, conspiracy, and/or uniform and common course of conduct giving rise to Plaintiffs' claims, occurred within New Mexico, including, among other things, the indirect sale of LCD to Plaintiffs and other members of the class at supra-competitive prices.

12. As a result of the manufacture, distribution, delivery and sale of Defendants' products to indirect purchasers within New Mexico, directly or through their subsidiaries, affiliates or agents, Defendants obtained the benefits of the laws of New Mexico and the markets of New Mexico for their products.

PARTIES

A. Plaintiffs

13. Plaintiff Marcia Weingarten is a resident of Bernalillo County, New Mexico. During the time period covered in this Complaint, Plaintiff purchased LCD manufactured by one or more of the Defendants, their subsidiaries, divisions, units or affiliates. As a result, Plaintiff paid supra-competitive and artificially inflated prices for LCD and has been injured by reason of the illegal conduct alleged herein.

14. Plaintiff Tom Clark is a resident of Santa Fe County, New Mexico. During the time period covered in this Complaint, Plaintiff purchased LCD manufactured by one or more of the Defendants, their subsidiaries, divisions, units or affiliates. As a result, Plaintiff paid supra-competitive and artificially inflated prices for LCD and has been injured by reason of the illegal conduct alleged herein.

Period.

53. Whenever reference is made to any act, deed, or transaction of any corporation, the allegation means that the corporation engaged in the act, deed, or transaction by or through its officers, directors, agents, employees, or representatives while they were actively engaged in the corporation's management, direction, control, or business affairs. Moreover, Defendants acted as each other's agents or joint venturers with respect to their conspiracy, and any Defendant that is a subsidiary of a foreign parent acted as its parent company's agent for its parent's U.S. LCD sales.

54. The acts charged in this Complaint have been done by the aforesaid Defendants and were ordered and performed by the aforesaid Defendants' officers, directors, agents, employees or representatives while actively engaged in the management, direction, control or transaction of said Defendants' business or affairs.

ADDITIONAL DEFENDANTS

55. As additional information may come to light, Plaintiffs reserve the right to add other Defendants as they become known to them.

56. The acts alleged in this Complaint were, upon information and belief, authorized, ordered or done by officers, agents, employees, or representatives of each Defendant while actively engaged in the management of its business or affairs.

CO-CONSPIRATORS

57. Various other individuals, partnerships, corporations, organizations, firms, and associations not yet made defendants in this Complaint (the "Co-Conspirators") and presently unknown to Plaintiffs, participated as co-conspirators in the violation alleged herein, and performed acts and made statements in furtherance of the conspiracy.

58. The true names and capacities, whether individual, corporate, associate, representative, or otherwise of defendants named herein as DOES 1 through 100 are unknown to Plaintiffs at this time, and are therefore sued by such fictitious names. Plaintiffs will amend this complaint to allege the true names and capacities of DOES 1 through 100 when they become known to Plaintiffs. Each of DOES 1 through 100 is in some manner legally responsible for the violations of law alleged herein.

59. The acts charged in this Complaint as having been done by Defendants and the DOE defendants were authorized, ordered, or done by their officers, agents, employees, or representatives, while actively engaged in the management of the Defendants' businesses or affairs.

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

60. This action is brought by Plaintiffs on behalf of themselves, and pursuant to Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, as representative of a class ("the Class"). In particular, Plaintiffs assert that a class action is appropriate under Rule 23(b)(3).

61. The Class is defined as:

All persons or entities residing in New Mexico who indirectly purchased LCD or products containing LCD manufactured and sold by one or more of the Defendants during the Class Period. Excluded from the Class are: all federal, state, or local governmental entities; Defendants' subsidiaries and affiliates; all persons who purchased LCD directly from any Defendant or from any other manufacturer of LCD.

62. Although the exact size of the Class is unknown, the total number of Class members is in the thousands as most New Mexico consumers have purchased LCD and/or products containing LCD. Based upon the nature of the trade and commerce involved, joinder of all Class members would be impracticable.

63. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of the claims of the Class, and Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Class. Plaintiffs have no conflict with any other Class member and have retained competent counsel experienced in class action and antitrust litigation.

64. Common questions of law and fact exist, including:

- (a) whether Defendants conspired with each other and others to fix, raise, stabilize or maintain the prices of LCD;
- (b) whether Defendants' acts were unfair or deceptive;
- (c) whether the combination or conspiracy caused the prices of LCD and products containing LCD to be higher than they would have been in the absence of Defendants' conduct;
- (c) the operative time period for the conspiracy;
- (d) whether Defendants' conduct caused injury to the business or property of Plaintiffs and the Class, and if so, the appropriate measure of damages;
- (e) whether Defendants' conduct violated the New Mexico Antitrust Act, N.M.S.A. 1978, § 57-1-1, et seq.
- (f) whether Defendants actively concealed the violation alleged herein; and
- (g) the appropriate nature of the class-wide equitable relief.

These and other questions of law and fact are common to the Class and predominate over any questions affecting only individual Class members.

65. Class action treatment is a superior method for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy described herein. The class action vehicle provides an efficient method for enforcement of the rights of the Plaintiffs and Class members, and such litigation can be fairly managed. Plaintiffs know of no unusual problems of management or notice.

66. It is desirable for the claims of the Plaintiffs and Class members to be consolidated into a single proceeding to provide all claimants with a forum in which to seek redress for the violations of the laws of New Mexico and the United States.

67. The difficulties that may exist in the management of the class action are far outweighed by the benefits of the class action procedure.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

68. LCD is a thin, flat display device consisting of pixels aligned in front of a reflector or source of light. An LCD generally consists of a mask of colored pixels and a layer of liquid crystal solution sandwiched between two panes of polarized glass. When an electric current is passed through the liquid crystals, the crystals react, creating electric fields. By manipulating the state of liquid crystals using electrical charges, the liquid crystals act like tiny shutters, opening or closing in response to the stimulus, thereby allowing light to pass through the colored pixels. As a result, the LCD is illuminated, thus creating an image.

69. LCD technology was introduced during the early 1970s; however, they were used commercially for laptop computer screens during the late 1980s. Today, LCD are used in a variety of electronic products including, but not limited to, flat-panel televisions and computer monitors, laptop computers, digital cameras, cell phones, microwaves, digital personal assistants and digital music players.

70. The LCD market is conducive to the kind of anticompetitive practices alleged in this Complaint. The market is oligopolistic, is characterized by high manufacturing costs, and has technological barriers to entry. The high barriers to entry are due to the capital-intensive nature of the display industry and the high volumes of production required to achieve economies of scale.

71. According to reports, the worldwide market for LCD panels was worth $53 billion in 2004. Other estimates suggest that the market is worth approximately $70 billion. Most LCD panels are manufactured in Taiwan and South Korea. For the first quarter of this year, Taiwan accounted for 52.2% of the LCD panel shipments, while South Korea had a 37.4% share. Last year, South Korea led with a 48.8% share against Taiwan's 41.8% share.

72. LG.Philips and Samsung have consistently been the industry's leading manufacturers. In 2005, LG.Philips captured a 21.4% market share of LCD panel production sized ten inches or larger, edging out Samsung, which had a 20.9% market share. Following closely behind were AU Optronics with 14.5%, Chi Mei Optoelectronics with 11.8%, and Chunghwa Picture Tubes with 7.3%. In 2006, however, Samsung appeared to have overtaken LG.Philips as the largest manufacturer of LCD panels—a result of the joint venture operation with SONY to form S-LCD Corp. Trailing close behind was AU Optronics. With its acquisition of Quanta Display in 2006, the company's estimated market share rose to approximately 20.2%, according to industry experts.

73. Prior to the Class Period, LCD prices in the United States decreased significantly. New competitors entered the LCD market during this period. Moreover, the increased manufacturing capacity resulting from newly constructed advanced generation factories and efficiency in production equipment and processes contributed to these price declines. The LCD manufacturers' saw their profit margins squeezed from falling average selling prices. Prices had dropped so precipitously that producers were actually selling at production cost, without making any profit.

74. These efficiencies did, however, allow for the increased use of finished LCD in computer monitors and laptop notebooks, flat panel televisions and cell phones. Upon information and belief, the average selling price of LCD rose significantly from 2003 to 2004 largely because of collusion among the Defendants. During this period, Defendants agreed to reduce supply in order to artificially raise prices.

75. Defendants' collusion operated to stymie the decline in prices prior to 2003, such that they raised prices to supra-competitive levels. By 2003, prices climbed. For instance, the average price of LCD larger than 10 inches increased from $219 in the second quarter to $271 in the fourth quarter. At the end of 2003, the market was valued at $33 billion, a significant increase from $29 billion in 2002. This increasing average price of LCD continued to rise in 2004, hitting an all-time high. According to industry analysts, the market was valued at $36 billion in 2004. It was the collusive activity among the Defendants and their Co-Conspirators that kept the prices at supra-competitive levels and lead to the increase in value of the overall LCD market.

76. The LCD industry has undergone significant consolidation throughout the Class Period, leading to substantially fewer LCD manufacturers in the market. Examples of this consolidation include AU Optronics' acquisition of Quanta Display and the collaboration by industry leaders to create ventures such as S-LCD, Toshiba Matsushita Display Technology and Sanyo Epson Imaging Devices.

77. The market for LCD products is large and steadily increasing in size. For example, shipments of LCD displays is predicted to rise to 154.3 million units in the first half of 2007, which is a 6.3% increase from the 145.2 million units shipped during the latter half of 2006, and is a 23.7% increase from the first half of 2006.

78. The United States Department of Justice ("DOJ") recently launched an investigation into anticompetitive practices by LCD manufacturers. On or about December 8, 2006, the DOJ subpoenaed Defendants LG.Philips, Samsung, Sharp and Chi Mei Optoelectronics. A spokesperson for the DOJ confirmed that an investigation is underway in the LCD industry and that the DOJ is cooperating internationally with other antitrust authorities. Several Defendants such as LG.Philips, Sharp and Samsung have acknowledged publicly that the DOJ has subpoenaed them about the LCD investigation.

79. Authorities in the European Union, Japan, South Korea and Taiwan have launched similar probes in coordination with the DOJ investigation. On December 12, 2006, the European Commission confirmed that it had sent formal requests for information to a number of LCD producers. Japan's Fair Trade Commission also confirmed that it is investigating allegations of price-fixing against LG.Philips, Samsung, AU Optronics, Sharp, Seiko Epson, Toshiba Matsushita Display Technology, NEC, Hitachi, and IPS Alpha. LG.Philips publicly acknowledged on December 11, 2006, that it is being investigated in various countries: "[A]s part of an investigation of possible anticompetitive conduct in the LCD industry, officials from the Korean Fair Trade Commission visited the offices of LG.Philips LCD in Seoul, Korea." Defendants Samsung, Sharp and Chi Mei Optoelectronics have also confirmed that they are under investigation by competition regulators overseas.

80. Price fixing among manufacturers in the high-technology industry has also occurred in other product markets, as evidenced by the most recent conspiracy in the Dynamic Random Access Memory market and the alleged conspiracy in the Static Random Access Memory market. Not surprisingly, many of the Defendants in these other cases are also implicated in this new investigation of the LCD industry such as Defendants Samsung and Toshiba.

TRADE AND COMMERCE

81. The activities of Defendants and their Co-Conspirators, as described herein, were within the flow of, were intended to, and did have a substantial effect on the commerce of LCD throughout the United States, including New Mexico.

82. During the Class Period, Defendants manufactured, sold and shipped substantial quantities of LCD to businesses throughout the United States, including New Mexico. Those businesses sold to other businesses who incorporated the LCD into other products including, but not limited to, flat-panel televisions and computer monitors, laptop computers, digital cameras, cell phones, microwaves, digital personal assistants and digital music players and then marketed and sold those goods to other consumers and businesses throughout the United States, including New Mexico.

83. The contract, combination, and conspiracy consists, upon information and belief, of a continuing agreement, understanding, and concert of action between and among Defendants and their Co-Conspirators, the substantial terms of which were and are to fix, stabilize, and maintain prices, allocate markets and customers, and to coordinate price increases for the sale of LCD throughout the United States, including New Mexico.

84. The acts in furtherance of the conspiracy by Defendants have included, on information and belief, the following wrongful conduct and horizontal agreements:

- (a) participating in meetings and conversations on a periodic basis during the Class Period, in which Defendants and their Co-Conspirators discussed and agreed to fix, raise, stabilize, and maintain the prices for LCD;
- (b) participating in meetings and conversations on a periodic basis during the Class Period, in which Defendants and their Co-Conspirators discussed and agreed to allocate markets and customers for LCD;
- (c) participating in meetings and conversations on a periodic basis during the Class Period, in which Defendants and their Co-Conspirators discussed and agreed to refrain from engaging in competitive bidding, or to submit complementary and non-competitive bids, for particular contracts to supply LCD and/or products containing LCD to various customers;
- (d) exchanging sales and customer information for the purposes of monitoring and enforcing adherence to the agreements reached;
- (e) issuing price announcements, price quotations, and general price increases in accordance with the pricing and market allocation agreements reached; and
- (f) facilitating, effectuating, implementing, monitoring and concealing the contract, combination, and conspiracy to raise the prices of LCD sold.

85. For the purposes of formulating and effectuating the aforesaid contract, combination, and conspiracy, Defendants and their Co-Conspirators did those things which they conspired to do.

IMPERMISSIBLE MARKET EFFECTS

86. The contract, combination, and conspiracy alleged herein had the following effects, among others:

- (a) prices paid by Plaintiffs and the Class for LCD and products containing LCD were fixed, raised, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high and noncompetitive levels;
- (b) indirect purchasers of LCD and products containing LCD were deprived of the benefits of free and open competition; and
- (c) competition between and among Defendants and their Co-Conspirators in the sale of LCD and/or products containing LCD was unreasonably restrained.

87. As a result, Plaintiffs and Class members have been injured in their business and property in that they have not only been deprived the benefits of fair and open competition on the merits but have paid more for LCD and/or products containing LCD than they otherwise would have paid in the absence of Defendants' unlawful contract, combination, and conspiracy.

FRAUDULENT CONCEALMENT

88. Plaintiffs hereby adopt and incorporate by this reference each of the preceding paragraphs as fully set forth herein.

89. Throughout the Class Period, Defendants and their Co-Conspirators engaged in a successful, illegal price-fixing conspiracy that was by its nature self-concealing and further effectively, affirmatively, and fraudulently concealed their unlawful combination, conspiracy, and acts in furtherance thereof from Plaintiffs and the Class members.

90. Although Plaintiffs exercised due diligence throughout the Class Period, they could not have discovered Defendants' unlawful scheme and conspiracy at any earlier date because of Defendants' effective, affirmative, and fraudulent concealment of their activities. Defendants' wrongful conduct was carried out in part through means and methods that were designed and intended to avoid detection, and which in fact, successfully precluded detection.

91. Defendants' fraudulent concealment included public statements that falsely attributed wild price fluctuations of LCD to natural reasons such as seasonal ebb and flow and a highly competitive market. Defendants also instructed their United States entities to offer similar false reasons to explain price increases to consumers throughout the United States, including New Mexico. In fact, those fluctuations were due to Defendants periodically withholding the supply of LCD to create an artificial supply shortage, which in turn generated a level of artificial demand, driving up prices.

92. Plaintiffs and Class members had no reason to disbelieve Defendants' explanations of the pricing behavior of these products. Indeed, in some instances Defendants' explanations involved proprietary or otherwise non-public information within Defendants' exclusive control, leaving Plaintiffs and Class members without means to verify their accuracy. Plaintiffs did not know nor could have known that Defendants' prices for LCD were artificially inflated and maintained by virtue of Defendant's illegal price-fixing conspiracy and that Plaintiffs and the other members of the Class were paying higher prices for LCD than they would have paid in a competitive market.

93. Plaintiffs have exercised due diligence by promptly investigating the facts giving rise to the claims asserted herein upon having reasonable suspicion of the existence of Defendants' conspiracy, and by seeking discovery as to the matters asserted herein, to the extent permitted by law.

COUNT I
(Violation of the New Mexico Antitrust Act)

94. Plaintiffs hereby adopt and incorporate by reference each of the preceding paragraphs as though fully set forth herein.

95. Beginning at least in January 1, 2002, and continuing until the present, Defendants and their Co-Conspirators engaged in a contract, combination, and conspiracy in an unreasonable restraint of trade and commerce throughout the United States, including New Mexico. The foregoing conduct has been, and continues to be, conducted in violation of the New Mexico Antitrust Act, N.M.S.A. 1978, § 57-1-1, et seq. Defendants and their Co-Conspirators have acted in violation of the New Mexico Antitrust Act, N.M.S.A. 1978, § 57-1-1, et seq. to fix, raise, stabilize and maintain prices of, and allocate markets for, LCD at supra-competitive levels.

96. Each of the Defendants named herein, directly or indirectly through affiliates, dominated, controlled, manufactured, sold and/or distributed LCD throughout the United States, including New Mexico.

97. During the Class Period, Defendants have engaged in illegal, anticompetitive practices including those described herein and/or combinations of capital, skill, and acts with others with the intent, purpose and effect of creating and carrying out restrictions in trade and commerce; increasing the price and limiting and reducing the supply of LCD; and restraining trade and preventing competition in the relevant markets of LCD products, thereby enabling Defendants to perpetuate their monopoly.

98. The aforesaid violations of of the New Mexico Antitrust Act, N.M.S.A. 1978, § 57-1-1, et seq. consisted, without limitation, of a continuing unlawful trust and concert of action among the Defendants and their Co-Conspirators, the substantial terms of which were to fix, raise, maintain and stabilize the prices of, and to allocate markets for, LCD.

99. For the purpose of forming and effectuating the unlawful trust, Defendants and their Co-Conspirators have done those things which they combined and conspired to do, including but in no way limited to the acts, practices and course of conduct set forth above and the following:

- a. to fix, raise, maintain and stabilize the price of LCD;
- b. to allocate markets for LCD amongst themselves; and
- c. to allocate amongst themselves the production of LCD.

100. The combination and conspiracy alleged herein has had, inter alia, the following effects:

- a. price competition in the sale of LCD has been restrained, suppressed, and/or eliminated in the State of New Mexico and throughout the United States;
- b. prices for LCD sold by Defendants and their Co-Conspirators have been fixed, raised, maintained and stabilized at artificially high, non-competitive levels in the State of New Mexico and throughout the United States;
- c. those who indirectly purchased LCD have been deprived of the benefit of free and open competition.

101. Plaintiffs and the Class members paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for LCD and products containing LCD.

102. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful and anticompetitive practices, including combinations and contracts to restrain trade and monopolize the relevant markets, Plaintiffs and the Class members have been injured in their business and property in that they paid more for LCD than they otherwise would have paid in the absence of Defendants' unlawful conduct. As a result of Defendants' violation of the New Mexico Antitrust Act, N.M.S.A. 1978, § 57-1-1, et seq., Plaintiffs, on behalf of themselves and the Class members, seek treble damages and the costs of suit, including reasonable attorneys' fees, pursuant to the New Mexico Antitrust Act, N.M.S.A. 1978, § 57-1-1, et seq.

COUNT II
(Unjust Enrichment and Disgorgement of Profits)

103. Plaintiffs hereby adopt and incorporate by reference each of the preceding paragraphs as fully set forth herein.

104. Defendants benefited from their unlawful acts through the overpayment for LCD and products containing LCD by Plaintiffs and the Class members. Under common law principles of unjust enrichment it would be inequitable for Defendants to be permitted to retain the benefits of these overpayments, which were conferred by Plaintiffs and Class members and retained by Defendants.

105. Plaintiffs seek disgorgement of all profits resulting from such overpayments and establishment of a constructive trust from which Plaintiffs and Class members may seek restitution.

COUNT III
(Injunctive Relief)

106. Plaintiffs hereby adopt and incorporate by this reference each of the preceding paragraphs as fully set forth herein.

107. Beginning by at least January 1, 2002, and continuing until the present, Defendants entered into a continuing agreement, understanding, and conspiracy in restraint of trade to artificially raise, fix, maintain, and/or stabilize prices for LCD in New Mexico and the United States.

108. Defendants' conduct in restraint of trade had the intent, and effect, of maintaining artificially high, and anticompetitive prices of LCD and/or products containing LCD.

109. Defendants and Co-Conspirators did those things they colluded and conspired to do, including, but not limited to, the allegations set forth herein.

110. Defendant's illegal combination and conspiracy as alleged herein had the effect of (i) restraining, suppressing and/or eliminating competition; (ii) artificially fixing, raising, maintaining, and/or stabilizing prices at high, supra-competitive levels; and (iii) depriving consumers of free and fair competition on the merits.

111. It is in the best interest of the public to enjoin, pursuant to the Clayton Act, 15 U.S.C. § 26 for violations of Section 1 of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1, Defendants and their officers, agents, employees, or representatives from engaging in the unlawful contract, combination, and conspiracy in restraint of trade or commerce of LCD.

112. Plaintiffs and the Class have and will continue to be injured by Defendants' conduct in violation of the antitrust laws of the United States and the New Mexico Antitrust Act, N.M.S.A. 1978, § 57-1-1, et seq. in the absence of injunctive relief.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs pray for judgment against all Defendants, jointly and severally, and respectfully request the Court:

1. Certify this action to proceed as a class action pursuant to Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and direct that reasonable notice be given to Class members;

2. That the unlawful conduct, contract, conspiracy or combination alleged herein be adjudged and decreed to be:

3. An unlawful combination, trust, agreement, understanding, and/or concert of action in violation of the New Mexico Antitrust Act, N.M.S.A. 1978, § 57-1-1, et seq.

- a. as identified in the First Claim for Relief herein;
- b. Acts of unjust enrichment as set forth in the Second Claim for Relief herein;
and
- c. In violation of Section 16 of the Clayton Act, 15 U.S.C. § 26 for violations of Section 1 of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1.

4. Award Plaintiffs and the Class members treble damages and costs of suit, including reasonable attorneys' fees pursuant the New Mexico Antitrust Act, N.M.S.A. 1978, § 57-1-3(A).

5. Award Plaintiffs and the Class members restitution from these Defendants for acts, as alleged herein, that violate the New Mexico Antitrust Act, N.M.S.A. 1978, § 57-1-1, et seq.

6. Award Plaintiffs and the Class members restitution and disgorgement of profits obtained by the Defendants as a result of their violation of common law principles prohibiting their acts of unfair competition and acts of unjust enrichment;

7. Award Plaintiffs and the Class members a permanent injunction under Section 16 of the Clayton Act, 15 U.S.C. § 26, enjoining Defendants, and their officers, agents, employees, or representatives from engaging in this unlawful contract, combination, and conspiracy in restraint of trade or commerce;

8. Award Plaintiffs and the Class members pre-judgment and post-judgment interest on the above sums at the highest rate allowed by law; and

9. Grant such other, further or different relief as the Court deems just and proper.

Respectfully submitted,
